What would you learn? Where would you learn it?

Fund for Teachers awards summer fellowship grants to preK–12 grade teachers to pursue self-designed professional learning. Teachers decide what they want to learn and where they want to learn it. Their odysseys take them all over the world—as scientists, researchers, artists and agents of change—and they return to their classrooms with new ideas that transform student learning and achievement.

Design Your Fellowship

- Reflect on your teaching: What are your strengths and challenges?
- Think about your students and their needs: What would spark their learning?
- Create your guiding questions: What do you want to learn? What passion inspires you? What need challenges you?
- Think outside the box: How and where is the best place to learn it?
- Research your options: Find experts; talk to your students and their parents; explore destinations.
- Collaborate with peers, school leaders, local organizations and international partners to extend the impact of your learning.
- Make connections: How will you bring your learning back to your classroom, school and community?

Who is eligible?

You are eligible if:
- You are a full-time preK–12th grade teacher, curriculum specialist, curriculum head, Special Education coordinator, media specialist/librarian, or other type of educator who spends at least 50% of your time directly teaching students;
- You are returning to the classroom in the consecutive school year; and
- You have at least three years teaching experience.
- Individuals may apply for up to $5,000 and teams may apply for up to $10,000

Apply online by January 31, 2018 at fundforteachers.org

Application available 10.1.17. For more information, contact: info@fundforteachers.org